

A

Rights Attitude Inventory

Directions: Decide how much you value each of the following rights – very important, somewhat important, or not important.

BEFORE
READING

AFTER READING

_____	Freedom of speech The right to express your ideas freely.	_____
_____	Freedom of religion The right to practice your own religion freely.	_____
_____	Right to a jury trial The right to a fair trial judged by a jury of fellow citizens.	_____
_____	Freedom of the press The right to print and distribute writing and news freely.	_____
_____	Freedom from cruel and unusual punishments. The government may not punish criminals in cruel or unusual ways.	_____
_____	Right to keep and bear arms The right to own and use weapons.	_____
_____	Right to control your own property	_____
_____	Freedom of assembly The right to gather peacefully with others and to protest.	_____
_____	Freedom from quartering troops in your home The government cannot make citizens let military troops stay in their homes.	_____
_____	Freedom from unreasonable search and seizures The government cannot search or take citizens' property without good reason or without following the law.	_____